No Pavement On Alcan

The sign on the back of their home-on-wheels tells the story. Mr. and Mrs. Orie Schaubuck of Crewe traveled the Alcan Highway to Alaska this summer, their travels took them through 20 states to visits with friends in California, Minnesota, North Dakota. Mrs. Schaubuch (the former Nellie Cawthorne of Appomattox) wears a walnus pin on her dress, memento of a traveler's first trip to the 49th state. The Schaubuchs have made the trip west four times but never before went as far north. They saw the Columbia Glacier at Veldez, 2 1/2 miles wide, 40 miles long, from 300 to 600 feet high and it moves three feet per day. The ice "groans, cracks, booms" says Mrs. Schaubuch, "a rather terrifying sight and sound." Mr. Schaubuch caught salmond including a 14-pounder which they had canned to bring home. The Schaubuchs say they prefer Virginia's highways to the Alcan. It's the only road to Alaska, a combination of gravel, pot holes, mud, dust and wind. Motorists are fortunate to make 100 miles in four hours. How many miles did they go? A total of 12,227plus 1,000 miles by boat on the Alaska-Canada inland waterways.

MITES AND T-REBS TO PLAY SATURDAY

The 11-12 year old T-REBS will play Paul Monroe at E. C. Glass, Lynchburg on Saturday following a 16-0 victory Saturday.

New Fords On Display Friday

Lawson Ford of Appomattox its headquarters in Appomattox for the 1971 line of Ford Division cars and trucks, including the new compart Pinto and the restyled Ford and Mustang lines.

Pinto will be on display at Lawson Ford beginning Friday, September 11. The remainder of 1971 cars and trucks will debut the following Friday, Sept. 18.

Pinto sports the flair and style of its stablemates – Mustang and Maverick – while targeting in directly on the size and economy characteristics of the leading imported cars.

Smallest of the domestic subcompacts, Pinto is four inches longer, eight inches wider and seven inches lower than the leading import. Ford Division's spacious "mini" car also offers more interior room, including five inches more rear seat knee room and six inches more front seat shoulder room.

This two-door sedan is powered by a front-mounted, 75-horsepower 1600 - cubic centimeter (97.6 cubic inch) engine. The optional power plant is a 2000 - cc (122 cubic inch) overhead cam engine rated at 100 horsepower.

Standard features include a floor-mounted, four-speed, fully - synchronized transmission; sports-car-type rack and pinion steering; bucket seats, and 15 colors ranging from Pinto Gold to Model T black.

Now nearing the half million mark in sales, Maverick for 1971 adds a four-door model and a Grabber sport sedan to its original two-door offering.

The new four-door model is seven inches longer than the two - door. The increase in length has substantially increased rear seat leg room.

The sporty Grabber sedan, a car that says performance on the outside but economy under the hood, features rallye-type road lamps and twin nonfunctional hood scoops on a specially-painted hood.
